Cecil Fanning and Festival Chorus Wagner PART SECOND
Overture, Amtholse Thomas Mignon
Festhall Orchestra
Danse Fantaisie, Frederick Stev.

Fifty members of Boston Opera House Orchestra, with Pierre Monteux as concert master.

Preparations have been made not only to present the usual brilliant group of artists, but to make this Festival especially noted, as it joins with all the great musical celebrations in the world to commemorate the centennial of Wagner and Verdi, the two greatest composers.

The first night will be the Wagner night, with the great Wagnerian singer, Madame Schumann-Heink, the great soloist, and excerpts from Parsifal, the greatest of all Wagner's works, sung by the chorus, with the excellent solo quartette, Mildred Eans, Robert Beatty, George Harris and Max Solvinger.

The standard grades for apples when packed in closed packages shall be as follows: First. Fancy shall consist of apples of one variety above the average size and color for the variety, and none smaller than two and one-half inches in diameter, sound and free from worm holes, bruises, scab or any other defect that materially injures the appearance or useful quality of the apples and shall be carefully packed.

Second. Number one, or class one, shall consist of well matured apples of one variety or normal shape and good color for the variety, not less than two and one-quarter inches in diameter, sound and free from all defects such as worm holes, bruises, scab or any other defect that materially injures the appearance or useful quality of the apple, and shall be properly packed in clean, strong packages.

Third. Number two or class two, shall consist of well matured apples of one variety, not less than two inches in diameter, of medium color for the variety and normal shape. Apples two and one-quarter inches in diameter or less, must be sound. Apples more than two and one-quarter inches in diameter may have one defect such as a worm hole or a bruise if the skin is not broken and shall be properly packed in clean, strong packages.

Fourth. Unclassified. Apples not conforming to the foregoing conditions as to variety, size and other conditions, shall be classed as "unclassified."

When the commissioner of agriculture becomes cognizant of the violation of any of the provisions of this act he shall cause notice of such fact, together with a copy of the findings, to be given to the person concerned. The person so notified shall be given an opportunity to be heard under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed. Notice shall specify the date, time and place of the hearing, and the hearing to be held in the county where the inspection is made.

Any person who adulterates or misbrands apples within the meaning of this act, or any person who packs, sells, distributes, transports, offers or exposes for sale, distribution or transportation, apples in violation of any of the provisions of this act, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for the first offense, and by a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars for each subsequent offense.

The practice of the healing art of Indian methods gave her high repute, and her services were widely sought for. It is said that she was only attendant at the party when a first infant of Anderson was well-nigh to his home. Her skill in all Indian handicraft was evidently above ordinary. Two articles wrought by her yet remain to attest her Preparations have been made not only to present the usual brilliant galaxy of artists, but to make this Festival especially noted, as it joins with all the great musical celebrations of the world to commemorate the centenary of Wagner and Verdi, the two great composers.

The first night will be the Wagner night, with the great Wagnerian singer, Madame Schumann-Heink, as the soloist, and excerpts from Parsifal, the greatest of all Wagner's works, will be sung by the chorus, with the excellent solo quartette, Mildred Foss, Roberta Beatty, George Harris and Max Salsinger.

The third night will be the popular night, with Mme. Lillian Blavet as the star soloist, and all the other artists except Mme. Schumann-Heink. The first act of the evening will be heard in brilliant array. At the first matinee, which will be mostly on the stage, the distinguished pianist, Mme. Cornelia Rider Porsart, will play the piano accompaniment of the vocal concertos with orchestra. The vocal soloists will be announced later, as they will play the program for the second matinee, which will present Cecil Fanning singing a song, as well as other artists. The third night will be the popular night, with Mme. Lillian Blavet, and Madame Schumann-Heink, and Madame Lillian Blavet, need no introduction to the Maine public. Their names are well renowned, although both singers have gained many new laurels since they were here some years ago. Their work during the past season has been better than ever before. Another favorite of Festival patrons is Cecil Fanning, who is meeting with most wonderful success in Europe, and has achieved the greatest triumphs obtained by any young American artist this season. He returns to sing at this Festival.

A word of introduction for some of the new singers, who will appear for the first time before a Maine audience, may be well given here. Miss Mitchell has but recently returned from her studies in Berlin, and her success abroad was most pronounced, the being acclaimed by the Berlin critics as the best American voice since the death of Geraldine Farrar. She is a native of Philadelphia, and possesses a rich, fresh soprano voice, of beautiful quality. Miss Roberta Beatty is a talented young contralto from New York, and possesses a voice of unusual purity and compass. George Harris, who is the tenor who was celebrated in the favorite pugil of Jean De Hervey, and who made a great success at Worcester and New Haven last season, and Fannigan is the Irish tenor who sang as a sensation during the tour of the Boston Hervey's orchestra, and who will sing, with deep accompaniment, some real old Irish songs. Max Rathen is the leading baritone from the Metropolitan and Vienna Opera House, and possesses a voice of remarkable power, the style of Titta Ruffo, and Amato, Amato, Amato. Mister Fossatt is a tenor of superior merit, highly cultivated, and with brilliant technique. Her singing with the Symphony Orchestra last season won great praise from all critics in New York.

The orchestra from Boston, with one Henricke as the concert master, is a most delightful feature, as the three past seasons, while the soprano, as large as usual and better in ability, will be one of the chief attractions at every concert. The program in detail will be:

CARD OF THANKS.

WE wish in this way to express our heartfelt thanks to all our friends for their kind words and acts of sympathy at the loss of our dear son.

We are especially grateful to Rev. L. Mills for his kind words of consolation, and to Willie Walker and to who stood so faithful, and to a singers for the hymns rendered. We would also remember those who taught sorrow, shedding brightness the song of sorrow.

Mr. Lilla Coleman,
 Mr. and Mrs. John Moore and family,

Andover Fair was no exception to the rule this year. Everybody went and everybody had a good time.

Wednesday was given to the arranging of exhibits and getting started. The 2:40 class was pulled off with Gregg's black mare, Nellie G., taking first money. The hall game Hansen and Andover resented in a score of 12 to 4 in favor of Hansen.

But Thursday was the day. To begin with it is hard to imagine a more perfect day and crowds came from all directions. It is said that over 1,300 were on the grounds.

The hall was well filled with fancy wares, canned goods, dairy products, fruit and vegetables. In the children's department there were many exhibits that made a good showing.

Again Thursday the Hansens beat the Andovers by a score of 6 to 2 and Gregg's Nellie G. took first money in the 2:40 free-for-all.

In the cattle department, Sylvanus Pool, Ray Thurston, Hanson Lobenz, L. L. Richmond and G. W. and S. F. Abbott took prizes on their cattle. Fred Grover and Charles Smith were awarded prizes for their swine and Win. Greig, Ray Thurston and E. Ralph got prizes on their sheep.

In the colts' contest, N. S. Steen, W. in the coming contest. N. S. Stowell & H. Akers received 1st prize, Ray Thurston & Tom Warren's 2nd. In the sweepstakes Ray Thurston, 1st; N. S. Stowell 2nd, and Ray Thurston, 3rd.

It was a most orderly crowd that attended both days' fair and neither on the grounds nor at the ball grounds were any arrests made.

The officers of the fair are: C. T. Poor, Pres.; Y. A. Thurston, Supt. of Grounds; H. A. Graver, Treas.; F. H. Akers, Supt. of Hall; J. P. Talbot, Sec. The trustees are J. F. Caldwell, S. E. Abbott, H. L. Poor, J. H. Abbott, J. H. Abbott, F. E. Akers and J. A. French. The ladies' committee are: Mrs. Granda; Y. A. Thurston; Bessie and Edna; J. A. French; stock, J. F. Caldwell, S. F. Abbott; sales, C. T. Poor; vegetable sale, S. H. Abbott; hall, F. E. Akers; committees, H. L. Poor.

The list of life members includes over seventy names and several new ones were added Thursdays.

VARIETY SHOWER TO MISS MILDRED HAPGOOD BY REBEKAHS.

A delightful evening was spent by the members of Sunset Rebekeh Lodge, No. 1914 Fellows Hall, Monday evening, Sept. 29th, when a variety shower was given Miss Mildred W. Hapgood, who is soon to be married to Harry Lyon of Astoria.

The tables containing the gifts was set against a background of beautiful cream tissue, and the garlands were draped in pink and green tissue, the color of the toilet.

A program of three numbers was presented, and refreshments, sandwiches and cake were served to a company of 50. The program included recitation, Miss Marion Foster, vocal solo, Miss Virginia Wright, reading, Miss Helen Wilkins, piano solo, Miss Doris Cook, solo, Miss J. H. Hargrave.

...trading, first to the merchants, and F. E. Purinton; trading of some clothes, shoes and jackets attached to a package, by Miss Haggard. The package was an entire surprise to Miss Haggard, who accepted the gifts with many thanks.

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

THE GRACE OF PERSISTENCE.

To have the faith and patience necessary to keep at a thing is one of the very finest of the virtues. Nearly every one has the ability and the opportunity to make life a success, if he only has the grit and the persistence to keep on doing the things that need to be done and are for him to do. It is the great bequest of the man of unusual ability that he can do things so readily and easily that he misses his training in the splendid school of patience. After all, it is the men of average ability, who have had to plod, and wait, and learn, and climb step by step, who have made the finest successes and done the most with their lives. Persistence is an excellent grace.—Exchange.

OVERDOING ORDER.

Neatness is a virtue, and yet so many people who are overly particular in this way are uncompanionable. Their hospitality is something to be endured rather than enjoyed. There is a certain woman whose home is a thing of beauty; every room is furnished, even to the minutest detail, in perfect furniture. As you enter a room your soul is satisfied, and you think: "Ah, here I am going to have an afternoon or evening of real joy." But the joy never materializes, because the woman who owns all these things worships orderliness more than comfort and cares more for her furniture than for her friends.

She gave a small dinner one evening, and after the dinner coffee was served in the library. A gentleman who was having a discussion with another guest accidentally upset one of the small cups of hot coffee, and the steaming liquid flowed over the beautiful surface of a mahogany table. The owner of the table gave a gasp of dismay, and the look she gave "the unfortunate gentleman contained tons of unexpressed reproach. Though not a syllable was uttered on the subject, it is needless to say the evening was spoiled for every one of the guests—only because this woman, worshipping the material things to the exclusion of a fine feeling of tolerance for the mistakes and accidents we are all liable to perpetrate. The woman was refused and had been used to being surrounded with beautiful things all her life. But a sense of extreme orderliness made every one who entered her home feel himself in an uncomfortable atmosphere—an atmosphere which made you hesitate before moving a chair out of place, even if you had something important to say, for you felt that the workings of your hostess' mind would be unable to concentrate until that chair was back in its original place.

Absolute cleanliness is essential to health and happiness, but overwhelming cleanliness sometimes makes life seem not worth while.

MAKING A GOOD CAKE.

It takes a careful, intelligent person to make a good cake. Many think that if they go according to the recipe they should certainly have as good a cake as their neighbor makes by the same recipe, but the trouble is they are probably not so careful in preparing the ingredients as their neighbor's.

If you want a first class cake of any kind, light or dark, it is necessary first to cream the sugar and butter to a froth before adding anything else and when I say "cream the sugar and butter" I don't mean to mix it together just enough to wet the sugar, but until it will froth and look like whipped cream. Some of you women will say, "Oh, it takes too much time," but I maintain that "what is worth doing at all is worth doing well," and if you do nothing at all in the line of creaming that will show each good recipe as meaning your sugar and butter well before adding the other ingredients.

Two, after they have spent half an hour getting the sugar and butter to a froth, some persons will go to a cup of cold milk, which will ruin it immediately in adding the butter back into chunks, and then work the practically all been for nothing.

Now just try having the chili taken off your milk and your flour and baking powder already mixed, so you can add a little flour and a little milk at a time, and beating smooth until all the flour and milk are used. When about half the flour is in all the whites of eggs beaten to a stiff froth, then the rest of the flour and milk, and I can assure you there will be no lumps, but a light, fluffy cake.

I have given my white cake recipe to dozens of women, and some come

DIXFIELD.

The annual picnic gathering of the members of the Church Aid Society with their friends met Thursday at the "Jeff White" homestead, where the president, Mrs. Hosca Yetten, is now residing. This is an ideal spot, situated near the bank of the Webb river, with a grand view of the Sugar Loaves and the surrounding hills. The day was perfect for an out-of-door gathering and there were over fifty present. The tables were placed upon the lawn, and were soon covered with tempting and appetizing food, which had been brought for the occasion.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Horatio Bishop and little granddaughter of Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. Sarah Lake and Mrs. Lucy Brown of Roxbury, Mass., Mrs. Mattie Daniels of California, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jordan of Brookline, Mass. The day was greatly enjoyed by all present.

NERVOUS HEADACHES

Heavy Feeling, as if My Brain Was Pressing Down

"I cannot tell you how much I have suffered during the past twelve years."

"Twelve years is a long time for any one to suffer for a great multitude of women in this country know exactly what Mrs. Hill means when she says, 'Heavy feeling, as if my brain was pressing down.'"

So nervous I could not get my rest at night. Would have shining spots and then so weak that I could not do my work. A great many women in the United States will recognize in this description their own experience.

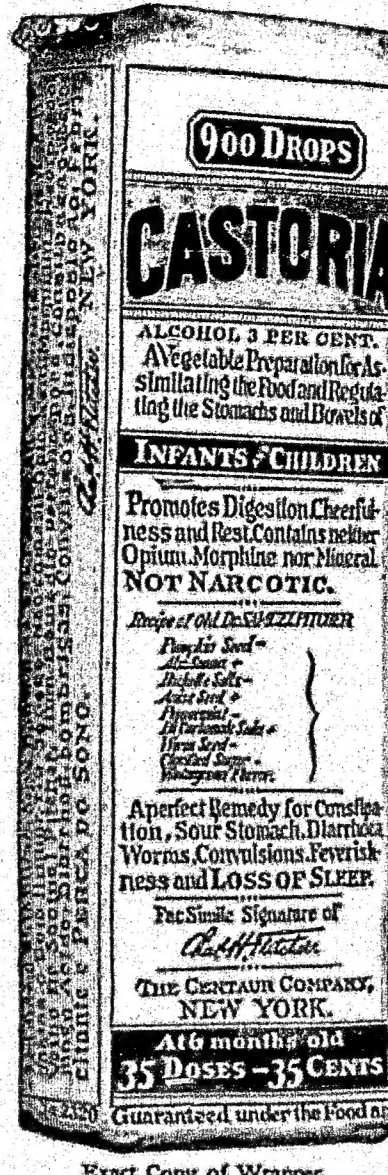

Mrs. Hill found a remedy. After taking four bottles of Peruna she gained strength and was well again. She says, "I cannot thank you enough for my recovery."

This is no ordinary incident. Twelve years suffering. Perfect health. If Peruna can do this for one woman why can it not for another? Is it not worth trying?

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

SOUTH PARIS.

The death of Leonard Canwell occurred very suddenly Monday morning, from cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Can-well went to his work at the Mason Manufacturing Company as well as usual and at about 7:30 o'clock was stricken with the shock that caused his death. Dr. D. W. Stewart was called but he lived only about two hours after being taken to his home. He leaves four children, Isaac Canwell with whom he lived, Mrs. Abbie Churchill of Wichville, Mrs. Melissa Yeaton of Wichville and Walter Canwell of Albany. He also leaves two brothers, William and Levi Canwell of Strickland. Within the past year Mr. Can-well is the third that has passed away.
The sister was Mrs. Keziah Holt of Dixfield and the brother, Amos Canwell of this town. He was 65 years of age.

The ladies of Good Cheer Society of the Universalist Church will hold a Harvest Supper on the evening of October 7. The men who are actively engaged in a contest against the indies will furnish the entertainment on that evening. The entertainment is to be something out of the ordinary, it is said. There will be over 200 packages auctioned off and they have engaged the services of the well known auctioneer of Oxford County, Albert D.
Park. It is said that some unusual methods will be employed that have been unknown up to the present time.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Notwithstanding that he has been one of the busiest men in Washington since Congress convened, Senator Robert M. La Follette has taken time from his other work to prepare for the October number of National Waterways, the magazine published by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, a most interesting and highly instructive article on the "Physical Valuation of Railroads," which Congress authorized the Interstate Commerce Commission to make at the earliest possible time.

"The magnitude of the work required of the Commission," says the distinguished Senator from Wisconsin, "begins to appear when it is realized that there are 250,000 miles of railroad, with all of the cuts and fills and grades and culverts and bridges to be surveyed and appraised. Then there is the rolling stock, the 50,000 passenger cars, the 60,000 locomotives in all the varying stages of depreciation and upwards of 2,250,000 freight cars, grinding from the little wooden cars, placed in service in the early seventies, to the great steel cars of the present time.

"Three things belong to the public at the hands of every transportation company that holds a franchise, and the government owes it to the public to secure those three things—reasonable rates, impartial rates and adequate services. On the other hand it owes it to the railroad company to see to it that it has a fair return on the fair value of its property—no more and no less.

Now for the first time, the Government is putting itself in position to require the railroad to discharge its obligations in full measure. The railroads, through more than half a century, have had more than their own.
The people now, so far as transportation rates and services are concerned, are coming into their own."

The forthcoming convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will be held in Washington, December 3, 4 and 5, gives abundant promise of exceeding in interest any previous convention of this great organization, whose slogan, "Not a Project, but a Policy," has brought benefits to the nation in the way of improved rivers and harbors. United States Senator Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana, the President of the Congress, which is second in importance only to the Congress of the United States, is authority for the statement that the program of the convention will embrace the appearance of many noted men who have made water way problems a life-long study. He hopes to have President Wilson open the Congress, as was the custom of Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, both having taken a very deep personal interest in the affairs of the largest and most representative of the waterway associations of the country. The congress will also be represented on the program together with representatives of foreign governments, as well as heads of great transportation lines and.

Not very few persons realize the magnitude of the program that is awaiting the nation on the close session that is given at least slaughtered in the past seven years 277,000 animals were reported as slaughtered for meat and 1,700,000 carcasses and 8,700 red parts were condemned. Eight million pounds of prepared meat were inspected and certified for export.

To do this work a force of 3,400 veterinary inspectors has been kept continuously at work at 102 slaughterhouses and packing establishments in 27 states and towns. These men, through long experience, can instantly detect abnormalities or other diseases in a carcass and can, by touch and smell, detect abnormalities in any organ.

ernment bought a site for an embassy building in Washington, the land alone costing over $10,000. Not content

THE TEST THAT TELLS

Is the Test of Time, Many Bethel People Have Made
This Test

Years ago this Bethel citizen told in a public statement, the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the testimony complete. Instances like this are numerous. They doubly prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. Can any Bethel reader demand more convincing proof? It's Bethel testimony —it may be investigated.

Scott W. Robertson, painter, Mason St., Bethel, Me., says: "I had an attack of backache and as it did not seem to go away, I knew that I must take something. One of the family had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of similar trouble, so I got a box at Bosserman's Drug Store. They removed the trouble. I am glad to publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills and it gives me pleasure to confirm all I said about them before."

with the present ambassadorial residence, plans have been adopted in Berlin for a $500,000 structure to be erected in the American capital in the very near future. The government of Argentina appropriated $500,000 to establish a fitting home for its minister accredited to the United States, and one of the finest residences in Washington has been purchased.

All of which is in marked contrast to the neglectfulness that marks the provisions for securing quarters for American Ambassadors in foreign capi-

Boston who naturally want to keep the development of the country and of the roads. The management of the properties will be more than pleased if New England bankers, banks and investors will furnish their full share of the money needed now and in the future and will assist in obtaining that money in the markets of the world.

laining that money in the markets is at a low level, and that it would be made between June 1, 1921, and June 30, 1922, for the obligations on the New Haven road of $4,000,000, and on the Boston and Maine road of $2,000,000, and New York and New Jersey of $1,000,000, and that the money should be obtained in the next eighteen months to buy equipment and make needed improvements at least to the extent of $1,000,000 for the Boston and Maine. The totals of these requirements is $15,000,000, and the financial ability is needed to handle the money in the form of bonds in New York, New York, Philadelphia, London, Paris, Berlin or in all these places. At the same time, the company is now in the New York and New Jersey road, and has completed for obtaining $7,000,000 for the New Haven road. The money is ready to be put out with a view to the next time to meet its obligations if the public service commission gives the necessary authority for the company to issue securities for that amount.

New England can and will have the kind of railroad management and service that the country is entitled to. The money can be made in three ways: first, by the increase in rates; second, by the stockholders, who live in the country to take the money; and third, by the company borrowing the money needed, wherever it can be obtained.

When the money needed is furnished, the management proposes to spend it promptly in improving and perfecting properties now owned. The management is now turning its activities to the transportation business.

Development of New England.

The complete development of New England's varied resources has not been accomplished. New England's farms must be re-peopled, and the forests must be even now. Progressive farmers and immigrants from Europe are teaching a new way of farming. Especially, that agriculture and horticulture in New England can be revived and pursued with profit.

New England has had a glorious past and has had a wonderful influence in the development of the whole United States. Her loyal, public spirit and power today have taken their full share of the country in solving the problems of the country. The problems of the future, however, will be solved, and all obstacles will be overcome if all will work loyally and patriotism that Robert Gould Shaw displayed when he marched away to his death at the head of the 6888 Central Postal Directory.

death at the head of his troops to serve his country first and his family and himself second.

And so in New England there is no good reason for doubt and discouragement, but every reason to be steadfast, courageous and to "Sall on, and on, and on!" and put New England in even a higher place than she occupies today morally, physically, agriculturally, intellectually, commercially, industrially and financially.

Terrible Suffering

Ecsema All Over Baby's Body.

When my baby was born ecsema all over his face broke out with great pain and at sixteen months of age his face broke out and was in a terrible state. The ecsema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask of cloth over his face and the only way to finally we gave him Hooch's Eczema Ointment and in a few months he was completely cured. Today he is a healthy boy. Mrs. Mrs. L. W. Harris, Portland, Maine. Hooch's Eczema Ointment cures ecsema and builds up the system. Get it today in your drug store or chocolate tablets called Sarsaparilla.

LOCAL HISTORY.

made by Mollokett, the last of the Annapolis on the Androscoggin River. It was made and presented to Mrs. John Kimball of Bethel and by her to the Maine Historical Society. Attest H. T. T. Bethel, Me., Sept. 15th, 1913.

"Dr. Nathaniel T. True of Bethel with much interest sought out in the several towns of her abode the facts of her life. The materials for this sketch are drawn from what he gathered and published.

"Another relic constructed by patient toil of clever fingers reveals much taste as well as skill. It is a pocketbook similar in form to those leather affairs in which our grandfathers carried their scanty bills. Stretched fully open it measures 11 by 6 inches, but it folds to nearly 2 inches with a portion to lay over and fasten with a clasp. On the inside the material shows itself to be a thick, closely woven web made from strands of yarn of tow. The outside is composed of split porcupine quills the web one by one as it was woven. The quills are laid in variously colored lines and shapes of fanciful designs. The lining making also the two apartments or packets is a green cloth, probably the old goods called aniel. The more closely the affair is examined the more curious and surprising the construction appears. A label attached tells its story: "This Pocket Book was made by Mollokett and presented by her to Colonel Eli Trenchard of Bethel about the year 1788. It is made of hodgepodge quills. The clasp was made by Mr. Trenchard. H. T. T. Presented to the Maine Hist. Soc. by Mrs. L. W. Harris, August 25, 1913." Another slip of paper will attract the eye and one will read, "Old Mollokett."

Made this Pocket Book

She was a Pequot.

"I recall the great Dr. True wrote a quaint legend. People of Oxford County in their stopping trips to Portland can if interested, see these articles any afternoon in the rooms of the Historical Society in the Public Library Building.

"Mollokett lived to an advanced age, variously estimated, and by some exaggerated to 120, even 140 years. The error was based on misapprehension of her relation of events in her life, and proof was ample in the apparent age of her daughter, who went to school at Bethel, and active and vigorous was no second rate contestant with the boys in rude sports. Dr. True said the general impression of the aged people of Bethel would assign to her about a century. Mr. Silvanus Poor told that she first came to Andover in 1788 and was thought to be 69 years old, hence would be hardly 80 at death. A line drawn between the town opinions might be nearly correct.

"In the last year of her life, Mollokett, very infirm and almost blind, was taken from Mollokett's camp where she had been to Andover, and first supported by the charities of her friends, was soon by the selection taken in charge and put in the care of Captain Thomas Briggs. Her native tastes and love for the free air of the hills and the balm of the forests made her care in her sickness ill content to be nursed in the house. She wanted to die in a camp where she could smell the cedar. So one was built by the house, and thus, nearer the sandstone and the breeze, she was made comfortable till the end and was very grateful. Mr. Poor wrote to Dr. True that she died August 9, 1810, that a large number of people assembled at her funeral, and a stone was laid to mark her grave in the village burial place. "Possessed of more than ordinary ability," is Dr. True's tribute, adding "She gained the respect and even the love of the whites at a time when the mere mention of an Indian was wont to kindle up in the breasts of white men availing but pleasant emotions."

In the Citizen of August 29, 1912, a copy of the inscription upon the memorial slab, said to be standing in the village cemetery at Andover, at the grave of Mollokett, reads as follows:

"MOLLOKETT, BAPTISED

MARY AGATHA. Died in the Christian Faith, August 2, 1913. The last one of the Pequots."

State Auditor, T. J. Callahan has, among other bills, recently held up bills of expense for Sunday work, work at home and transportation of state officials and is lightning up the lines of expense of officials in attendance at conventions. Hereafter the auditor will limit the attendance bills at conventions to one official unless it can be shown that the attendance of more than one is necessary and advisable. Conventions where the attendance of state officials is desired are multiplying greatly of late years and such a rule the auditor thinks is desirable. There is no intention to limit needless travel expenses on work of the state but the administration seeks to effect an economical reform along these lines of travelling at the state's cost.
